

Which Path Will You Choose: Uniting in Love and Acceptance

No one is perfect,
Only some are great

You know it's not worth it
So stop all this hate

Other people have feelings too
it's not just you

You might have friends
You might have good grades
You might think it's never the end

When you bend your life
Like a rubber band

If you let go.....

You might land in a path of darkness
You might land in a path of light
Or in between

A path you believe

Here is a fact
That will bring you back

Take this for example
An unperfect sample

They think they are the best
But they got separated from the rest

Here this guy thinks he's so great
Let's let him decide his fate

He is so mean
No one wants him on their team

She's good-looking
Super cool
She even owns a nice pool

But if you keep hating the weak ones
People will hate you a ton
That is the darkness

We must love and accept those who are imperfect

Now here is the light
These people joined the fight

Everybody thinks they are clean
And they are not mean

He is the quiet one
But when a bully comes and goes you know what he's done

When someone is mean you know what he craves
The good feeling of being brave

She is tough
She is strong
But when games are unsafe, she is not rough
When someone is in danger she will shout
Get down
Get out
Go somewhere safe

Two paths one to fall
One of them will change it all

Help the light
Join the fight

Stop the mean
And join the team

Try to tone it down
You know what I passed around

The mean are here

The mean are near

The bully will never go

Because we are not perfect

But let's make life worth it

Accept all who are different than us

So we can live in a world filled with trust

You know what to do

And I know too

Thank you!